Illustrated Step-by-Step Guide

The challenges mankind faces in the 21st century are unprecedented. With the economies going down, environment heavily polluted, terrorism threatening the world and military confrontation progressing, the situation is obviously going out of control, and we people of earth who have created this situation don't seem to be able to cope with it. Why?

We have a certain understanding of who we are, and we proceed from this understanding in all that we do, think and feel. Unfortunately, our understanding is wrong. No wonder that the results of our deeds, thoughts and feeling are wrong as well—and this will not change unless the old paradigm is changed.

Our entire perspective on ourselves must be turned around. But the popular New Age slogans, such as "Love each other" or "You are divine", won't suffice. What we need is a precise positive knowledge of what our true origin and nature is, how we got where we are now, and how we can return to our original divine state where we can exercise our lawful right for abundance, peace and harmony in all spheres of personal and social life.

The book you are about to open is an attempt to summarize the teaching that provides the knowledge in question.

1. INTRODUCTION: THE KEY TO PROSPERITY

All people strive for prosperity. Prosperity in the larger sense is abundance in all spheres of life. We desire health, wealth, success in our endeavors, and happiness in private life. These desires are lawful, for all children of God have a right to claim the abundance originally intended for them by their Creator.

Unfortunately, this abundance does not always manifest fully in our lives. Some suffer from chronic shortage of money. Some lose interest in life because of debilitating diseases. Some, unable to retain their family and loved ones, fall into despair. We each have our own problems. And we often don't understand why these problems occur in our lives. At times they strike us like a bolt from the blue. We ask "Why?"—particularly when we feel we have done nothing wrong! We feel we deserve a better lot! And century after century, millennium after millennium the same question echoes down the corridors of history: "O my Lord, why?"

People have always suspected that the answer can be found somewhere beyond the boundaries of the visible material world, and they tried to find this answer in the wisdom of ancient teachings. Well, it is there indeed, but the way to it is often obscured and blocked by the obstacles created by human consciousness.

Throughout the centuries God has sent to earth His messengers, such as Jesus Christ, Gautama Buddha, Confucius and Mohammed. Each of them in his turn expressed universal laws in their original purity, and these laws formed the base of a certain religion. The goal was to provide people of earth with knowledge that would help them attune their lives with universal principles, find harmony within themselves, come into harmony with the universe, and thereby attain that abundant—in all aspects—life that had always been the object of their desires.

This pure knowledge contained within itself the answers to all questions but, unfortunately, it lost its original purity very quickly. The human consciousness tends to measure all things by the measure of its own understanding, which is rationalistic and earthly. In the process of such adjustment the universal concepts were distorted until they ultimately lost their original sacred meaning. The live Spirit became the dead letter, and its miraculous transfiguring power was lost.

The formal teachings of the formal religions could not give answers to the seekers' questions. People of earth forgot that all true spiritual teachings come from the same source and therefore are identical in their inner essence. Each one claimed his religion to be the only true religion, and followers of other religions were labeled pagans or heretics or infidels.

However, life on earth, following the rhythms of cosmos, passes through certain cycles. The twentieth century came to its end, and together with it ended the age of Pisces, the époque that started with Jesus' coming and lasted for two thousand years. Earth entered the age of Aquarius, which has the potential to be the golden age for the planet and all thereon. The age of Aquarius presents to each one of us and to mankind as a whole wonderful opportunities never seen before. It is up to us to make use of the knowledge that is released to us once again.

At the end of the age of Pisces, during the period of transition mankind has been given a universal Teaching providing man with a clear understanding of his own nature and the nature of the world in which he lives. This teaching explains with precision where the disharmony causing problems in our life comes from, and it teaches concretely what we should do in order to remove this disharmony. Mathematical exactness is combined in it with the infinite creativity of Spirit. It is universal indeed, for it gathers together and reduces to a common denominator the fragments of the true knowledge scattered over the numberless pages of numberless books and provides a man with a true understanding of his own true nature. It supplies each one with knowledge of his own forces and with an understanding of his calling not only in his present life but also in his life in Eternity.

This Teaching given through the Messengers (individuals especially trained to receive and release the divine knowledge) will be the subject of our consideration on the following pages. The information given to mankind is massive, and its greater part has not been even published yet. The present notes are meant to be a leading thread which will help you to not get lost in a sea of information, and which will help you find that which you personally need.

We will move from one theme to another step by step.

2. THE CIRCLE OF THE ONE

The only axiom we need to accept is the existence of God. The rest will be revealed to anyone who will open his consciousness to His Light and His Wisdom.

It is hardly possible that someone in the beginning of the 21st century would describe God as an anthropomorphic being seated on a cloud and sending to His creation now thunderbolts of terrible anger and then merciful currents of infinite grace. We need to tap into a deeper understanding if we are to grasp not the outer allegory but the inner sense.

The One, The Undivided, The Unconditional, The Absolute Good and the Absolute Beginning of all things—a Christian calls Him the Almighty Creator, a Hindu knows Him as Brahman, a Jewish mystic names Him Ein Sof. The names are different, but the meaning is the same: the absolute source of being, the beginning of all things, the Absolute Good and Absolute Truth. If we now turn to the terminology that is more familiar to the contemporary ear, we will say that God is the primordial universal source of energy—“the giver of all”, for ultimately we ourselves and all our surroundings are but different modifications of the divine energy.

All Western theologians of all époques faced the same problem: since the number of the attributes of God is infinite, we will never be able to list them all, and therefore we will never be able to formulate an exhaustive definition of God. As a matter of fact, it is impossible to deFINE something that is INFINite, for any deFINition is making FINinte. The followers of the Eastern religions have always been in a better position, as their approach is based on the intuitive comprehension rather than rational reasoning.

However, God is able to adjust to any way of thinking, and He gave to Western man that which he needed—the name that constitutes the exhaustive definition of the Godhead.

When Moses asked God to reveal His name, so that the prophet could convey it to his people, God answered: I AM THAT I AM.

The left part of this phrase is the same as the right one, or, in terms of formal logic, the subject and the predicate are identical. This is the only way to express the infinite in the frames of rational thinking and language.

This definition—the name of God I AM THAT I AM (or, in its short form, I AM) is crucial for man's understanding of his real nature, and it will play the key role in our further discourse.

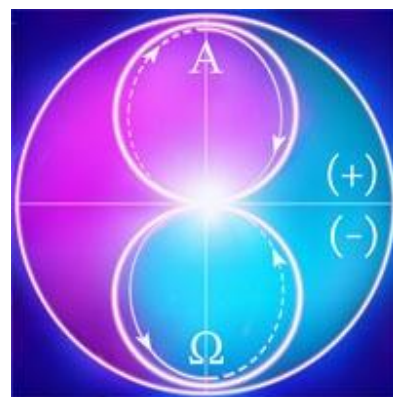

The Divine Source in its purest essence is traditionally represented by a circle. It is the beginning of the world, the pure energy, Light in its limitless intensity and original purity. This unconditioned beginning of all, the center of the purest fire of the One, is called the White Fire Core of Being.

3. AFTER HIS IMAGE AND LIKENESS

God created man in His image and likeness. What does that mean? It is obvious that the beautiful frescos by Michelangelo are purely allegorical, and we need to get a deeper understanding.

Returning to our Circle of the One, we see that it polarizes forming two antipodes: a positive one (Alpha) corresponding to the sphere of Spirit and a negative one (Omega) corresponding to the sphere of Matter. Two spheres occur simultaneously within the One, as the Sacred Circle of Being divides into two polarities: the upper sphere which is positive and referred to as the Spirit, the Heaven and the Creator-Cause and the lower sphere that is negative and referred to as Matter, Earth and creation-effect. There is a continual interchange of energy between the two spheres in the figure eight flow: in our diagram the active impulse from Alpha is shown by a solid line, and the return flow from Omega is shown by a dotted line.

Now we have an opportunity to see once again that the concepts of different religions that are perceived by the common consciousness as contradictory to each other are absolutely identical in their inner sense and differ only in the way of expression.

The original impulse coming from Alpha as an active giver is the Beginning, and the return of energy from Omega as a passive Receiver is the Ending. This is exactly what the scripture says: “I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty.”¹ So this is the Christian aspect of the concept in question.

On the other hand, it is evident that our diagram is a representation of the t'ai chi which is one of the basic concepts of all Eastern philosophies symbolizing the interaction of the masculine Yang that corresponds to the Spirit sphere and the feminine Yin corresponding to the sphere of Matter.

Thus we see that the outer differences that seem to be insurmountable to the human consciousness are indeed caused by the limitations of this very consciousness and disappear completely when come in touch with the Light of the Divine Wisdom.

But let us return to the creation of man. In the process of creation the One becomes the many — He creates numerous “copies” of Himself — His individualized manifestations known as divine monads. Each monad in its turn polarizes within itself forming the spheres of Alpha-Spirit and Omega-Matter. The latter corresponds with the human soul.

When a man says “I” he usually means his physical body plus the thoughts and feelings that he perceives as his own. Such an approach misses the main point—the awareness of the Presence of God that is individualized for each soul and constitutes an integral part of each one’s being, and the understanding of the fact that it is this Presence of God that is the Beginning and the Ending of our existence both on earth and in other spheres. It is the Presence of God whose name is I AM, or the I AM Presence.

So the upper part of the figure eight corresponds to the I AM Presence representing the sphere of Spirit, and the lower part corresponds to the human soul evolving in the plane of matter. And so we see that according to the divine plan each of us is in no way a particle of helpless flesh lost in the vast ocean of time and space, but a great being having at his or her disposal the infinite energy of God focused in His individualized Presence given to each of His children.

The interchange of energies between the upper and the lower spheres is shown in more detail in the diagram on the left. The spiral flow of energy descending from Alpha is represented by the violet line and the returning ascent from Omega by the aquamarine line. The third picture shows them together as a whole, for the divine energies are not subject to the laws of time and space, and they move with the speed incomprehensible for the finite consciousness from plus to minus and from minus to plus, manifesting the unity of God and his creation—“as above, so below.” And man manifests “below” the fullness of the perfection of the Godhead “above.”

But we understand, of course, that this is an ideal description of the ideal process, as it was in the past and as it has to become in the future. But that which we see on the present stage of the mankind’s evolution is quite different from the ideal scheme. So what is the reason? Where do wars, poverty, hatred, illnesses, and natural calamities come from? And how do they match the perfect design conceived by the Creator in the beginning?

4. WHY CAN'T PEOPLE FLY?

—Because they have deprived themselves of this opportunity—fortunately, not forever.

The energy, or the Light of God that the man receives from the I AM Presence is the source of man's existence in the plane of matter. His body, his thoughts and feelings, and all that surround him in his life—ultimately all these things are various modifications of the Divine Light flowing continuously from the Divine Presence.

Whatever we do in the outer, the inner process is always the same: each moment we receive a certain amount of Light and utilize it in this or that way, or qualify it, i.e. give it a certain quality.

We have a right to do this because we have a gift of free will given to us by the Creator himself. According to the Cosmic Law, a human being evolving in the plane of matter has a right to use the divine Light flowing to him from the sphere of Spirit according to his own choice and understanding, and no one in the whole universe, including the Supreme Godhead, can prevent him from doing so.

And how can we use the Divine Light?—In fact, there are only two ways: either for good or for evil. If we use this light in accordance with the principles of God-Good (simply speaking, if we observe the basic moral principles formulated, for instance, by the Ten Commandments or by the Golden Rule which enjoins you to treat people as you would like them to treat you), its original purity does not undergo any change. It remains the same white light with the same frequency as in the beginning. It spirals up freely, returning from the lower point in the matter sphere to its source in the upper sphere of Spirit. This is that very pure process of the energy interchange from plus to minus and from minus to plus that was described at the end of the previous chapter.

But what happens when by our free will we direct divine energy to manifest destruction and hatred, qualifying it as anger, judgment, envy, pride, selfishness etc?

Any misqualification of the Light of God causes its perversion that manifests as the lowering of its frequency and the loss of its original momentum. The wave of light that has descended from the highest point of Alpha to the lowest point of Omega slows down and no longer has a sufficient impulse to be able to ascend back to its divine source. Instead, it begins to spin below like coils of a serpent winding round the earthly form of a man. Thus it forms that which is known as electronic belt.

The electronic belt is shaped as a kettle drum and comprises within itself all the energies that a man has ever misqualified and perverted by his free will. The spirals of the electronic belt carry the information about all these perversions, or the records of these perversions.

The energies of the electronic belt polluted by the vibrations of the negative thoughts, feelings and deeds are dense and heavy. The man gets stuck in them as if it was a block of concrete, and it is these energies that subject him to the law of gravitation and prevent him from rising above the earth both in literal and allegorical sense.

5. THE WHEEL OF THE LAW: THE EAST AND THE WEST

The following are the two consequences of the law of free will:

1. A man has a right to use the Light of God in accordance with his own will;
2. He is fully responsible for the results of such use.

He is totally responsible for every particle of energy received by him as the material for the construction of his life, and each particle that he has ever misused and perverted must sooner or later be purified and returned to its original perfect state.

And here comes the law of karma.

Orthodox Christians consider this concept to be heretical, while to the common consciousness the words “karmic reward” sound frightening, inasmuch as they are commonly taken to mean the manifestation of an angry God punishing his creation for their sins.

However, in reality the law of karma is simply a manifestation of the universal law of cause and effect. The Sanskrit word «karma» means “deed”, or “action”, and karmic records are the records of our deeds. Good deeds create positive karma that constitutes our “treasures in heaven” (do you see how the Christian concept blends harmonically with the concepts typical of the Eastern religious tradition?), and negative deeds cause negative records that are waiting for the moment to be paid.

The Great Law is exact and passionless, and all that we send into the world sooner or later returns to our threshold providing an opportunity for redemption. Suppose at a certain point in time you did something that offended or harmed a certain part of Life. The cosmic cycles are continually turning, and their rotating movement takes this record away from you, so that you may forget it completely and not be aware of it for a long time, even in the course of several incarnations. However, sooner or later the Wheel of Law will make its full turn, and you will find yourself face to face with the problem that you once failed to resolve. And it is entirely up to you to make a different choice this time and not make the same mistake again. If you manage to do so, the karmic problem is resolved and the record erased, and the energies imprisoned in the perverted matrix of the negative record ascend back to their divine source; but if you fail, a new record is created to await resolution in its turn.

So we see that the law of karma is the evidence of the infinite grace of God and is in no way a manifestation of His inexplicable cruelty. Really, it would be extremely unfair to give the gift of free will to a man, thereby exposing him to the danger of incorrect actions, and then punish him for his mistakes without providing an opportunity for atonement! Each karmic situation, however upsetting and difficult it is, is in fact a happy opportunity to free ourselves from a certain amount of karmic burden that often makes our life so different from what we would like it to be.

It happens sometimes that a disaster that occurs in someone's life seems not to be a result of his deeds or the circumstances of his life. In such cases we usually say, "He is such a nice person, why did it happen to him? He definitely deserves a better lot". Well, it is quite possible that in his present life he does. But the point is that we live more than once.

There is another manifestation of the grace of God: the law of reincarnation. According to this law, each human being embodies on earth as many times as required for the full resolution of all his karmic problems and for his return to the original state of the perfect unity with God.

The Christian Church rejects this principle categorically, but let us consider: is it possible that the merciful God might give a man only one chance, and then send him—FOREVER!—to the blossoming gardens of paradise or to the burning fires of hell? Really, that would be too primitive for an omniscient and omnipotent being.

And it is not so. The book "The Lost Years of Jesus" written by the Messenger Elizabeth Clare Prophet contains evidence of the fact that a considerable part of Jesus' life preceding his Galilean mission was spent in Egypt and Tibet where he studied under the great Eastern adepts. Mrs. Prophet's other book, "Reincarnation", shows that the concepts of karma and reincarnation originally were present in Jesus' teaching as an integral part thereof, but the orthodox church pursuing its earthly interests excluded these concepts from its official doctrine. By doing so, it hid from mankind that which was the main purpose of Jesus' mission and that which he demonstrated during his last incarnation on earth.

So what was it?

6. «THIS IS MY BELOVED SON...»

The two major misconceptions connected with the figure of Jesus and the role he played in the history of mankind are as follows:

1. Jesus has atoned for our sins. Having laid down his life for us, he paid our debts, and if we want to save our souls all we have to do is believe in him and worship him as God.
2. Jesus is the only Son of God, while all men embodied on earth are lesser creations, born in sin, crawling in the dust.

Let us consider these two points.

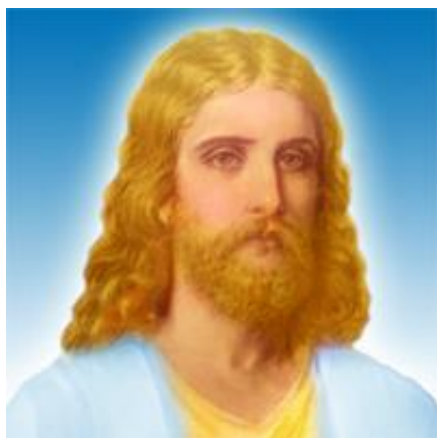

Under the law of karma, no one—not even a being of the highest level of attainment—can pay for someone else's sins, or balance someone else's karma. This is impossible in principle. All negative things that a man has done starting from his very first embodiment must be redone and cleaned up by his own hands.

If so, then what was Jesus' sin-offering about?

Two thousand years ago, in the beginning of the era of Pisces the karma of mankind was so heavy that, if it had descended upon the people of earth as it was required by the Cosmic Law, it would have simply destroyed everything on the planet. Jesus undertook to carry the weight of mankind's karma for two thousand years. By doing so, he postponed the descent of human karma and thereby provided the time necessary for mankind to perfect their consciousness and become mature enough to be able to balance their karma on their own.

Two thousand years have passed, and the time has come for a man on earth to take the responsibility for his own karma. Is he able to do this?

Yes, he is. And even more than that, he must do it. This is exactly what Jesus' teaching was about, for he came to earth not only to carry the weight of karma. By his very life and attainment he demonstrated to people of earth that which every individual can achieve if they choose reunion with God.

Like each of us, Jesus embodied on earth repeatedly. Among his most well-known incarnations were the king-psalmist David and Elisha, the pupil of Elijah. Just like any other human being embodied on earth, Jesus created negative karma and afterwards had to balance it. Life after life, overcoming difficult karmic situations, perfecting himself in love, mercy and forgiveness, he balanced his karma, and the culmination of this process took place during his last embodiment when he finally balanced 100 percent of his karma. He got free from his human creation that kept him bound to earth and ascended to the heart of God, i.e. passed from the physical plane to the level of higher vibration. (The more detailed information about the four quadrants of matter and corresponding levels of being will be provided in Chapter 12).

The conclusion the common consciousness drew from the fact of Jesus' ascension was that he was the "exclusive" Son of God. However, what he really taught his followers was that each of them is called to gain the mind "which was also in Christ Jesus"², i.e. to purify and elevate their consciousness to such an extent that they can make the transition from the earthly level with all its burdens and grief and sorrows to the level of God-free beings not subject to the limitations of time and space.

So what do we have to do to achieve this? First, we look inside ourselves. For within every man's heart, unseen by the physical eye and imperceptible to electronic devices, dwells a particle of God's own flame that was placed there by the Creator himself as evidence and guarantee of man's original divine nature. This particle, although very tiny, is absolutely identical to the flame of the Divine I AM Presence and to the flame of the white fire core of being which is the source of all creation. In the beginning this flame was unstained and pure. It enveloped the whole physical form of a man who was literally a being of light. But when people began to misuse the light of God and pervert the divine energies, the flame in the heart began to reduce and finally became very small. So now, in order to return to his original divine state, man on earth must purify and expand the divine spark enshrined in his heart.

On one of the following pages we will give a detailed explanation of what this flame looks like and what we should do in order to purify and perfect it. We will also explain a chart showing the connection of a man and different levels of his consciousness with his Divine Presence. We will do this as soon as we have introduced some more necessary concepts. But for the time being, let us consider this simplified diagram from which we can see that the heart of a man is connected to the I AM Presence by the crystal cord. By this cord, which is a "river of life" indeed, the energy of God descends from the sphere of Spirit into the sphere of Matter where the man dwells. This divine light sustains the burning of the transcendent flame within man's heart, which in turn sustains the beating of the physical heart and the functioning of all systems of man's physical body.

When the flame in the heart is purified, expanded, and freed from the density of human creation, it enlarges, enfolds the physical form of a man and becomes first the Flame of Resurrection and then the Flame of Ascension. The sequence of earthly reincarnation comes to its end, and the one who managed to overcome the limitations of the human nature transcends the level of earthly existence and gains immortality.

Jesus is not the only one who has achieved this. Both before and after him numerous devotees and saints, known and unknown, underwent the sacred ritual of ascension and heard the words of the Father addressed to them: "This is my beloved son (my beloved daughter), in whom I am well pleased"³.

They are called the Ascended Masters because they have mastered the limited human nature and, having passed through the ritual of ascension, dwell now in the realms of Spirit. Throughout the centuries they have worked with the most advanced people on earth delivering through prophets, messengers, and various enlightened ones the divine knowledge necessary for the development of this planet.

In the second half of the twentieth century, in the critical moment of the end of the dark cycle of Kali Yuga that had lasted for 25800 years, they gave to mankind a priceless compendium of divine wisdom that can usher this planet into the new golden age, if it is used properly. However, if mankind chooses to ignore this teaching, the consequences may be rather sad.

The divine knowledge they deliver through their messengers is known as the Teachings of the Ascended Masters.

³ Matthew 3:17

7. THE HIERARCHY OF LIGHT

Some of the Ascended Masters are especially close to us. El Morya is one of them. He was one of the three Wise Men who came to adore the newborn Jesus. He embodied as King Arthur who led the Knights of the Round Table in their quest of the Holy Grail. He came to the land of Mother Russia as Saint Sergius of Radohezh. He was Archbishop Thomas Becket and Sir Thomas More. During his last embodiment at the end of the nineteenth century, together with Mahatma K.H. (presently Ascended Master Kuthumi), he founded the Theosophical Society and worked with Helena Blavatsky conveying through her the esoteric knowledge explaining the nature of things, the origin and evolution of the macrocosm of the universe and the microcosm of a man. After his own ascension in 1898, El Morya continued the delivery of the sacred knowledge to mankind. Beginning in the 1920's, he dictated⁴ through Nicholas and Helena Roerich the priceless books of Agni Yoga, or Yoga of Fire that constitutes the highest form of Yogic practice.

Among the Ascended Brotherhood who continue to work for the illumination of unascended mankind are such well-known figures as Jesus the Christ, Mother Mary and numerous saints of the Christian world. Gautama Buddha, Confucius, Zarathustra, Serapis of Egypt—all of them, although often considered by people of earth to be the founders of religions that are incompatible with each other, work together because the knowledge they bring to earth comes from the same Source.

The Ascended Masters belong to the Cosmic Hierarchy of Light that is the universal chain of beings each of whom embodies a certain aspect of the consciousness of God. The position of an ascended being on the Hierarchic ladder is determined by the level of his or her attainment, i.e. by the extent to which he or she has transcended the limitations of the human nature and has become the manifestation of the pure Light of God. Besides the Ascended Masters who have passed through a number of incarnations on earth and returned to the octaves of Light, there are other beings in Hierarchy who have never embodied in human form and therefore have never created human karma. Angels and Archangels⁵ have always been for the people of earth the most “comprehensible” representatives of Hierarchy. They are our friends, assistants and protectors always ready to help.

Understanding of the I AM as the Presence of God individualized for each and everyone was given to mankind in the early 1930s through Gay and Edna Ballard, Messengers of the Ascended Hosts and leaders of the I AM Movement.

In the second half of the 20th century, at the end of the dark cycle, when the karma of mankind was descending with increasing intensity which might lead to the destruction of the planet, our friends from the octaves of Light came to assist us once again, teaching the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary for holding the balance of the planet.

In 1958 El Morya founded the Summit Lighthouse, the organization meant for the publishing of the Teachings given by the Ascended Masters and Cosmic Beings through the Messengers Mark and Elizabeth Clare Prophet.

The Summit Lighthouse bridged the gap between Pisces and Aquarius and marked a turning point in the Ascended Masters’ activity on earth. The immense body of teaching that was delivered in the course of about 40 years contains essential knowledge that is necessary for personal and planetary transformation. The moment has come—and the Masters have told us it would come at some point—for the people of earth to accept this knowledge and make use of it. The time has come to take responsibility for our planet and our own spiritual path.

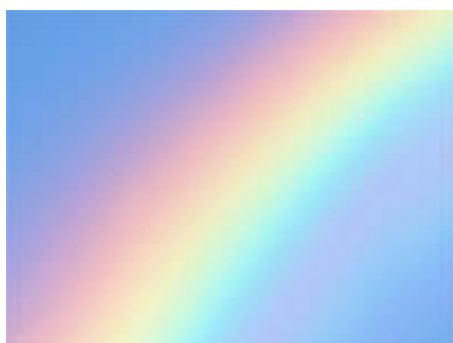

To some this might sound scary, but Divine mercy is infinite. It not only gives us an opportunity for atonement but also provides numerous instruments and methods that help us achieve our goal as soon as possible. It sends us assistants who render their help lovingly and joyfully. They are quite numerous, but some of them are especially close to us, and now we are going to get to know them better.

In the next chapter we will be introduced to the Lords of the Seven Rays.

⁵ See Chapter 22

8. THE SEVEN ASPECTS OF THE CONSCIOUSNESS OF GOD

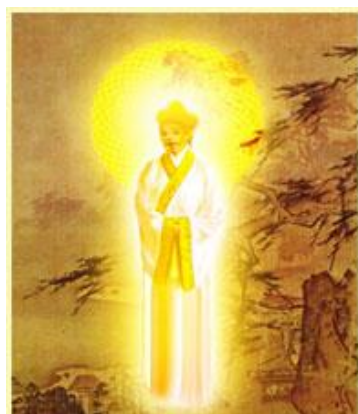

The pure white light of the white fire core of God contains within itself the infinity of the attributes of God in their indistinguishable oneness. However, even as physical light passing through a prism refracts into seven spectral colors, the pure light of the consciousness of God gaining definiteness in the world of plurality manifests as seven Rays which are seven aspects of the consciousness of God. Each Ray has a certain wavelength and frequency different from the others and represents a certain quality of God's being and consciousness.

An Ascended Master, angel, or Cosmic Being is said to serve on a certain Ray if he or she has chosen to embody the quality of this Ray. Each of the Seven Masters we are about to meet represents a certain ray of God and serves mankind by sustaining and promoting the development of the corresponding quality in mankind's consciousness. Each unascended chela of the Ascended Masters (a chela is a student of the Masters and their Teachings⁶) is also called to serve on a certain ray. Some already know what their ray is, and some are going to discover this in the future.

Here is the description of the Seven Rays and their qualities:

The First Ray is blue. It represents the Power and the Will of God. It is the ray of statesmen, politicians, economists, military men, and those who guard and protect individuals and society as a whole. The Lord (or, as they would say in the East, the Chohan) of the first Ray is the Ascended Master El Morya. The blue flame of the will of God is the flame of protection. In moments of danger we call to Archangel Michael and his angels of blue flame who serve on the First Ray. In the physical world the vibration of the First Ray is focused by the crystals of sapphire and diamond.

The Second Ray, the Ray of Wisdom, is golden yellow. Those who serve on this ray work for enlightenment and education. Lord Lanto, Chohan of the Second Ray, combines the ancient wisdom of the East with the teachings of the new age manifested in the Western hemisphere. The flame of wisdom is also represented by Archangel Jophiel and the angels of illumination. The gemstones that correspond with the Second Ray are yellow diamond, yellow sapphire, and topaz.

The third Ray is pink. This Ray of Love overshadows those who are called to convey the beautiful images reflecting the ideas of Divine Love through fine arts. Chohan of the Third Ray is Paul the Venetian, the divine artist who embodied as one of the greatest Renaissance masters Paolo Veronese. Archangel Chamuel and the angels of love bring the blessings of the Third Ray to each particle of life in the universe. The vibrations of the Ray of Divine Love crystallize on the physical level in the ruby, rose quartz, pink beryl, and garnet.

The Fourth Ray represents the quality of Purity. The white flame is the flame of ascension, and Serapis Bey, the Lord of the Fourth Ray, receives those who have finished the round of earthly incarnations and are ready to ascend to the realms of Light. Gabriel, Archangel of the Fourth Ray, is also known as the angel of annunciation, for it was he who announced to Mary that she was going to give birth to the Divine Child. The flame of the Fourth Ray is crystallized in the gemstones of diamond, quartz and zircon. This flame is also known as the Flame of the Mother, and as such it has white pearls as its physical focus.

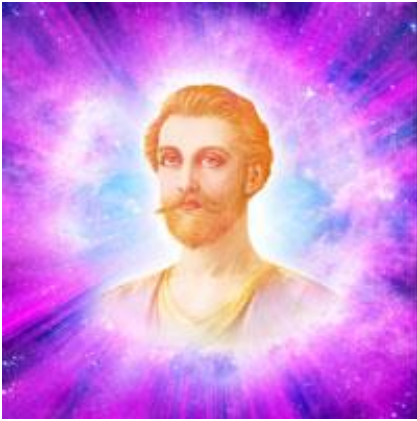

The Fifth Ray is the emerald green ray of Truth and Healing. The devotees of this ray are representatives of different branches of science, medicine and healing. They are tutored by Master Hilarion well known to the Christian world by his embodiment as the Apostle Paul. The healing power of the fifth ray also comes to us through the immaculate heart of blessed Mother Mary, the merciful sponsor and protector of all who live on planet earth. Archangel Raphael and the healing angels serve together with Mary. The most popular gemstones of the Fifth Ray are jade and emerald.

The Sixth Ray is purple and gold. Its way is the way of service, and it is followed by those whose calling is to serve the flame of God living in His creations. Lady Master Nada is the Chohan of the sixth ray. During her last embodiment she eschewed personal ambition, and instead dedicated her entire life to the prayer and service on behalf of her numerous brothers and sisters. This selflessness and service balanced her karma and brought her to the higher level of existence. Her angelic coworkers on the Sixth Ray are Archangel Uriel and his band of angels. The physical crystals bearing the vibrations of the Sixth Ray are topaz, ruby, alexandrite, diamond with pearl.

The Seventh Ray of the divine alchemy and transmutation is violet. It is represented by the Ascended Master Saint Germain, the Wonderman of Europe who amazed French society in the 18th century with miraculous alchemical transformations, the precipitation of riches, and the manifestation of wonders of longevity. As Jesus was the Hierarch of the two thousand year Piscean Age, Saint Germain is the Hierarch of the two thousand year Aquarian Age in which we find ourselves. He is assisted in his work by Archangel Zadkiel, Holy Amethyst and the angels of the violet flame. Amethyst, diamond and aquamarine are the gemstones focusing the frequencies of the Seventh Ray in the physical.

9. AT THE ALCHEMIST'S WORKSHOP

Madame du Hausset, lady of chamber to the Marquise de Pompadour, relates in her memoirs that one day the King of France showed a second quality diamond to Saint Germain and asked if Monsieur le Comte could improve it. Saint Germain agreed, and a month later he returned the gem without any flaw in it. This man removed defects of precious stones, transformed dry twigs into blossoming trees and transmuted cheap metals into gold.

He was an alchemist.

What does this mean?

First of all, it is necessary to note that Saint Germain could perform all these wonders so easily because he was an Ascended Master in physical embodiment. It was that rarest case when an ascended being who had already passed to the octaves of Light was allowed to descend into embodiment on earth once again in order to once again render assistance to mankind.

Thirteen thousand years ago he served as the highest priest of the temple of the sacred fire in Atlantis; he embodied as the prophet Samuel and Saint Joseph, father of Jesus; he also was Merlin—the legendary seer and magician who supported King Arthur in his holy endeavors. As Christopher Columbus he discovered the American continent, and as Francis Bacon he introduced the scientific methods that led to the creation of the technologies we enjoy today. The famous plays known as the works of William Shakespeare were also written by Sir Francis. He made his ascension on May 1, 1684 and returned to France as Comte de Saint Germain in the second half of the 18th century.

He has been a friend of earth, bringing the light of divine wisdom to mankind, and helping to sustain the burning of God's flame within their hearts. But in the 21st century his role becomes especially important. April 23, 2002 marked the end of the age of Pisces sponsored by Jesus and the beginning of the age of Aquarius that is sponsored and guided by the Ascended Master Saint Germain.

He came, together with the other Masters, at the end of the age of Pisces, at that dramatic moment when the accelerating descent of Karma could flood the planet with oceans of mankind's negative karma returning as war, disease, famine, and natural disaster. Just like before the coming of Jesus, the weight of human karma was so great that the survival of mankind was impossible without divine intervention. And so Saint Germain came with his great gift—the gift of divine alchemy.

It would be too naïve to presume that he came to teach people how to get diamonds out of the air or how to transform lead into gold. This becomes absolutely clear when you open the book “Saint Germain on Alchemy” and see the subheading: “The Science of Self-transformation”. What he is talking about is the transformation of consciousness, i.e. the transmutation of the corruptible metal of human consciousness into the incorruptible gold of the consciousness of Christ.

The Aquarian age is the age in which we take responsibility for the karma that Jesus has carried on our behalf for two thousand years. Before the coming of Saint Germain with his gift of divine alchemy, the only way of balancing karma was to pass all karmic tests. Everyone had to walk their own via dolorosa, or way of sorrows, carrying the self-made cross of his individual karmic burden. Often the individual's karmic “debt” would have to be paid in tears for all tears ever shed through his actions and in suffering for all the pain he had ever caused other. This way of transmuting karma is still present in life, but the master-chemist Saint Germain gives us a miraculous means that allows us to transmute considerable layers of our karma even before they come into manifestation as certain negative events in our life.

This wonderful means, this miraculous alchemical elixir given to us by Saint Germain is the violet flame.

Violet flame is the flame of the Seventh Ray. It is the energy of the highest level of vibration in the visible spectrum. Violet fire burns through like a laser beam and dissolves all impurity and density that we have created out of the pure light of God sent to us by the crystal cord. Violet flame penetrates into the deepest levels of our electronic belt and frees the energies imprisoned therein, purifies them and returns them to their original pure state.

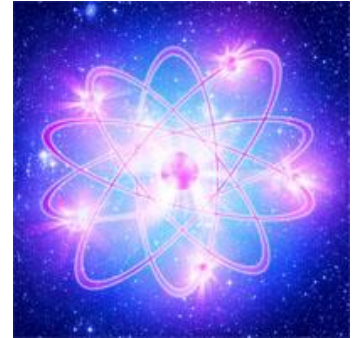

The electrons in the atoms constituting our bodies are particles of pure light. They remain such as long as the energies descending via the crystal cord remain unchanged. However, when we misuse the Divine Light, the dense darkened energies begin to clog the spaces between the electrons, dimming their light and lowering their vibration. That is how the “concrete” substance preventing us from hovering above the earth is formed. And that is where the violet flame transmutation is needed.

The image on the left shows how the beams of the violet fire penetrate through the density, rarefying it and eliminating the darkness.

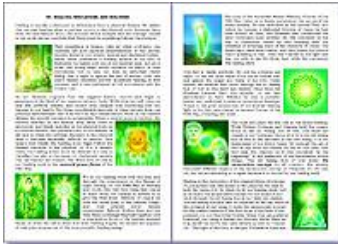

The image on the right demonstrates the atom purified by the transmuting action of the alchemical elixir of Saint Germain.

So we see that violet flame is a priceless gift indeed. It is able to change our life drastically. But in order to be able to do its work, it needs to be invoked. There is a special science of invocation known as the Science of the Spoken Word.

The next chapter explains the creative power of sound and its role in our spiritual work. Moving further, you will learn how the seven rays manifest through the seven energy centers of your being; how the four elements of the material world—fire, air, water and earth—correspond with the four bodies of yours and how those bodies constitute your aura.

You will make a pilgrimage to the Inner Temple and discover the flame of God on the altar of your own heart. You will see the portrait of your Higher Self as your Self portrait and learn how to protect the Light that you are.

Proceeding with your study, you will draw the spiral of your astrological chart and discover how you can become a psychologist, astrologist and psychotherapist for yourself able to take your own destiny under control;

You will come to know the feminine aspect of God and realize that it is God as the Mother flame in you who is the actual Creator on the plane of matter;

You will see into the very core of the ancient dilemma of good and evil, look at the face of your own “inner enemy” and acquire the weapon that will enable you to slay the dragon first within and then without;

Freed from the duality within your being, you will understand the meaning of the surrender to the Will of God, and you will see how oneness with the Divine Will enables you to precipitate abundance and bring healing to yourself and all around you;

You will take your rightful seat at the Table Round with the Knights of the Grail, undertake your holy quest for the sacred chalice and discover that the eternal source of abundance and immortality abides right here within your own heart;

Like Gautama Buddha, you will sit under your own Bodhi Tree and receive the initiations leading to the Buddhistic enlightenment;

Like wise kabbalists of old, you will see the attributes of Godhead as the characteristics of your own being, and you will know how to become what you see;

Like the Apostles of the Christ, you will feel the descent of the Holy Spirit upon you and will begin your world service practicing the sacred Gifts you are endowed with;

You will come to understand your ascension as a life long mystery taking place each moment in the now and leading to the moment of your ultimate victory;

You will know the true Freedom of those whose sight is no longer obscured by the illusions of human creation because they have replaces those illusions with the Reality of their True Divine Being...

These are just some of the topics suggested for your consideration. There is still much, much more to discover and ponder...
